Kwikby Home Page: Proposed Sections

Proposal for the body of the home page, to be decided before the layout is built.

Proposed sections, in order

1. Hero banner. One large banner with a single call to action, such as "Shop the spring edit." It can rotate through up to three campaigns, but one static message is recommended until there is enough content to rotate.
2. Shop by category. The round or rounded tiles from the design. This is the main way shoppers find their way into the catalogue, so it belongs near the top.
3. Hot deals. Products with a sale price, ordered by discount depth, with a countdown when a deal has an end date. Placing it high converts price-sensitive shoppers and is the section most likely to bring them back.
4. Most popular. The best-selling products over a recent window, such as the last 30 days, with the rating count shown. Social proof works well here because shoppers trust what others have bought.
5. Best for this season. Products grouped by season or occasion, such as summer, back-to-school, or a holiday. This needs a seasonal tag on products or a curated collection, which the platform does not have yet.
6. New arrivals. The newest approved listings. It gives sellers visibility and gives returning shoppers a reason to come back.
7. Top shops. A row of star sellers or top-rated shops, each with a banner and a link to their storefront. This builds trust in the marketplace and helps smaller makers stand out.
8. Gift guides. A banner or tile row that links to the Gifts mega-menu section, such as "For her" or "Under $25." It fits the handmade and gifting positioning.
9. Trust strip. Four short points, such as delivery, cash on delivery or card, returns, and verified reviews. It sits near the bottom, before the footer, to reassure shoppers who have reached the end of the page.

What the platform can support today

Section	Data source	Status
Hot deals	Products with a compare-at price	Supported. A deal end date would need a new field.
Most popular	Order counts over a time window	Supported with a query over orders.
New arrivals	Approved listings, newest first	Supported.
Top shops	Shop ratings and badges	Supported.
Best for this season	Seasonal tag or curated collection	Not built. Needs a new feature.
Gift guides	Curated category or collection	Not built. Needs collections.
Trust strip	Static content	Supported.

Best for this season and Gift guides both depend on a curated collections feature. Building collections once would serve seasonal picks, gift guides and campaigns. Until then, these two sections could link to plain category pages.

Decisions needed

- Order of Hot deals and Most popular. Deals first suits a bargain-led audience. Popular items first suits a brand-led audience.
- Seasonal section: manual or automatic. Manual means a team member chooses products each season. Automatic means it is based on tags and sales data, which takes more work to build.
- Mobile display. Suggested: show the first five sections and move the rest behind a "See more" link, so the page stays short on phones.

Once these sections and decisions are confirmed, the home page layout can be built with these sections and the matching styles.
